🇷🇺 Is Russia really is in isolation?

Here's a list of countries that have already refused to associate with sanctions against Russia. Others are hesitating. Listings that are not exhaustive.

- ♦ Moscow partners in the BRICS group (Brazil, India, China, South Africa). 41% of the world population.
- ♦ The countries of OSC (Belarus, Kazakhstan, Tajikistan, Armenia, Kyrgyzstan).
- ♦ Azerbaijan and Moldova have abandoned anti-Russian restrictions. But the most surprising thing is Georgia's position.
- ♦ Latin America (Mexico, Argentina, Venezuela, Guatemala, Colombia, Cuba, Nicaragua, Chile).
- ♦ The Middle East (Syria, Egypt, Turkey, Iraq, Iran).
- ♦ The Balkans (Serbia, Bosnia and Herzegovina).
- ♦ Hungary, yet a member of the European Union.

Protocol 19

Protocol 20

These two protocols are happening as we speak. I have been witnessing many changes this week in the crypto space as the digital economies from many platforms all over the world are merging into one single quantum financial system.

As far as the banking system and the markets are concerned, this is the revaluation process taking place at this time through a digital economy allowing cross-border international trade to be possible.

At the conclusion of this new financial setup, you will begin to see the currencies in paper form find their real values due to the increased demand upon each country's currencies in the digital space.

This new money velocity creates more value over time and real value based upon actual calculated data through artificial intelligence inside a quantum computer regulating and implementing real time values at the point of sale.

Sanctions push BRICS states towards closer ties – Moscow

Ukraine-related Western sanctions are pushing BRICS countries into closer economic cooperation at an accelerated pace, Russian Finance Minister Anton Siluanov said on Saturday during the first meeting of finance ministers and central bank governors of the BRICS countries, chaired by China.

According to the finance minister, the “current crisis is man-made,” and the BRICS member states – Russia, Brazil, India, China, and South Africa – “have all the necessary tools to mitigate its consequences for their respective economies and the global economy on a broader scale.”

Siluanov says the current US dollar-based international financial system should be reformed to ensure “independence and continuity of economic processes.”

We have talked in this room about the Indian Rupee being pegged to the Russian Ruble.

About a month ago, we saw this in an article that was posted in this room.

When this is implemented, look for the Russian Ruble to raise the value of the Rupee.

In order for this to work well, the Sovereign Gold Bonds will need to be activated. It will provide the liquidity it takes for this to occur. By the way, this is on imminent status.

At this point, we will have the BRICS system capable of pegging their currencies to like currencies supported by these Sovereign Gold Bonds.

Brazil, Russia, India, China and South Africa form the alliance we call the BRICS system.

Each day we are getting closer and closer to those Sovereign Gold Bonds going live. Turkey is a big addition to the BRICS system as they will influence the Iraqi Bank in their own country. Look for a renegotiation of their present contracts that will have to be correlated under new guidelines based upon liquidity provided by the sovereign gold bonds.

The SGBs will liquidate the digital and paper currencies many of us hold from the East. This and one final piece of the puzzle will activate the new global economy under a digital asset backed financial system.

The testing will be over digital assets and their ability to function on the new Web 3/Quantum Financial System.

I look for early testing to take place with digital stablecoin currencies that belong to the Brics system. These countries govern the currencies many people hold in the Dinarland.

The Sovereign Gold Bonds will go a long way into the concluding phases of these virtual assets that will back our currencies.

Platforms have already gone live in some of these currencies waiting to be tested with new assets backed by the metal market.

The conclusion of this testing will be June 8th or 9th. Anything can happen during this time if one or more of the currencies you hold has a digital asset that's been approved ahead of time.

Look for the markets to continue to transition into this new economy causing havoc inside the old Financial System during this process.

The Russian Ruble already has a virtual asset backed by gold. Others are on the way.

The digital banking system has been in transition for some time now. Stellar is The Ledger Coin that will record and make this process possible.

Ripple will be the transactional coin to complete the process.

StableCoins will be utilized to represent a country's currency.

Banks have been in logistics training for some time to adapt to the new changes going forward.

BRICS is a prominent interconnected network that will be a vital anchor of the new monetary system. Several new countries in the east are beginning to form new alliances to the new BRICS system.

This is why we are witnessing so many gold platforms being added to the Quantum Financial System.

Several gold platforms are being updated as we speak beginning today. It is a process that is built in layers with a single purpose in mind to support each of our assets with real values based upon a commodity that is actually worth something.

It may appear to be quiet on the surface today, but many monetary platforms are being implemented with new values in the next two weeks.

One of the ways this is actually being done is through a Sovereign Wealth Fund.

The BRICS Financial System has a new future acronym. It is BRICST.

Yes, a verbal okay was given for Turkey to be added to the BRICS System.

You can now purchase the new BRICST Asset on the new QFS Platform that has gone live.

Sounds like a done deal to me.

China is calling for an expansion of the BRICS. At this point, there is a serious possibility that Turkey, Argentina, Venezuela, Saudi Arabia and Iran will join this bloc. The fact that Saudi Arabia and Iran, countries that have always been enemies, could be in the same alliance may seem surprising, but it is not so surprising when we take a closer look at what is happening in the Arab world. Saudi Arabia has been increasingly dismissive of Washington for some time. Riyadh has already considered accepting Chinese yuan for the sale of its oil, a move that would be a fatal blow to the petrodollar, an increasingly shaky pillar of Rothschild finance.

The Saudis recognize that the Euro-Atlantic bloc is losing influence and are opportunistically trying to move to the other camp. The fact that even Saudi Arabia, a state created by the Anglo-Zionist establishment, is considering abandoning its traditional reference points is an even clearer sign of the crisis in which these powers find themselves.

The BRICS seem destined to become the world's leading geopolitical bloc. A bloc in which there is no domination of one power over another, but a mutual respect for national sovereignties. We

From the information that is coming in this morning, the dollar is about to be significantly challenged.

This will be the leveling off process allowing money to go from a major currency to the emerging market currencies.

Watch closely what happens to bitcoin by the end of the month. You are already seeing several coins being moved from Bitcoin and into the altcoins that are perceived to be a value going forward.

Keep your eyes on the BRICS System. The Russian rubles will be the currency many other countries use as a model to standardize their currency through gold.

This never has been a push of the button. It is a process by which the ever evolving nature of money is revealing preferences determined by the consumer confidence of those who use it.

Expect major shifts in all economies in July, August, and September. None of them will look the same at the end of the next quarter.

Yes, the next 3 months will determine new values placed upon economies around the world.

The Russian Ruble has strengthened to pre-conflict levels. Putin has been very strategic and purposeful.

1. He's charging rubles for oil and gas sales, not dollars and euros, so other countries are using his payment system.
2. Russia changed its policies toward cryptocurrency, and can now use it in foreign trade, and as a means of paying. Citizens of Russia have opened more than 12 million wallets, storing more than 10 trillion cryptocurrencies, such as RUB.
3. He got them off the swift system, away from the central banking system, and backed the ruble with gold so it would have value, unlike the worthless US dollar. The deep state is very dependent on the dollar. As the dollar falls, so does the deep state.
4. He's working with the Brics nations to develop the new gold backed system. More countries are considering joining, getting off the old swift system.

Huge things are about to happen.

Goldilocks 🗨️, [7/1/2022 5:31 PM]

Watch the brics system. We have some major announcements coming out this weekend regarding several new platforms that are connecting themselves to this new gold backed monetary system.

* Goldilocks

Goldilocks 🗨️, [7/2/2022 9:04 AM]

"The feds told us they were not going to buy any more bonds." This information comes from an experienced trader in the bond market.

"Several big jumps in inflation have forced the Federal Reserve to drastically tighten policy. One of those policies had been to buy lots of bonds, including those that specifically underlie the mortgage market. More bond buying demand = lower rates. As the Fed backs out, rates are hit with the double whammy of high inflation and less buying demand."

And yesterday, we saw the 2-year, 10 year, and 30-year bond market charts fall in unison. Then, we saw a dead cat bounce at the end of the day. A dead cat bounce occurs when a market falls from a great height. It will not be sustainable unless the feds change their mind and start putting money into the bond markets again.

The housing market has made a turn. It is beginning to collapse along with the market. This is a deadly duo. This pullback along with a dollar being used less around the world puts us on a course towards finding real values.

As the Western markets fall, the Eastern markets are turning towards the BRICS Financial System for support. Their gold platforms are growing on the Quantum Financial System daily

G7 is beginning to get involved with liquidity pools. As we shift from one global economy to another, you will be hearing more about this group of seven countries in the Western hemisphere of the world.

BRICS is gaining traction in the Eastern hemisphere of the world.

Both provide liquidity pools stemming from various supportive assets inside a digital economy.

Liquidity pools are presently going out through the G7 in the West and the BRICS system in the East.

Do you remember the smart contracts and the digital ledger transmissions we talked about a couple of weeks ago going live on the QFS digital platform?

We have everything in place including major digital financial systems to put this digital economy in place at this point through smart contracts and digital ledger transmissions on the global digital banking platforms.

* Goldilocks

"In finance, a dark pool is a private forum for trading securities, derivatives, and other financial instruments. Liquidity on these markets is called dark pool liquidity." Wikipedia

What does a liquidity pool do?

"A liquidity pool is a digital pile of cryptocurrency locked in a smart contract. This results in creating liquidity for faster transactions. A major component of a liquidity pool are automated market makers (AMMs)." Jun 7, 2022

The New Development Bank inside the BRICS Financial System is emerging into a global economic structure capable of meeting the needs of the eastern half of our world in ways the Western Financial systems cannot.

The BRICS system is allowing them more say in the way they develop the Eastern culture based on their personal values and desires to move forward in the new age of innovation and exploration inside a global digital economy.

This move will bring about less dependence on the US dollar and International Settlements that hinder the progression of the Eastern countries' desire to fully develop who they are within their own financial structures.

As the US merges into their new digital banking system, we are witnessing the eastern half of our world create their own banking structures that make sense to their way of life.

Both are going to be brought together through smart contracts that engage bilateral trade relationships through a digital banking artificial intelligence structure.

The ISO 20022 will make these transactions possible within seconds of their engagement through the use of Digital Ledger programs and digital assets making these connections possible.

This is a month whereby the Old Guard hands over the keys to the New Guard in the new financial world. And, the process of the above mentioned executions will engage us into a new way of banking never before seen in history.

Yes, the Old Financial System is going away forever. The New Gold Backed Digital Economy known as the Quantum Financial System is about to emerge.

Watch the markets closely. As one financial system falls apart a new one will be rising at the same time.

Gold will back the new global digital system.

Watch The BRICS System.

What's really going on with brics?

The US dollar's supremacy and us global leadership have been increasingly questioned since the 2007–2008 global financial crisis. the fact that this crisis originated in the united states raised concerns about the reliability of us leadership and the rationality of preserving the dollar's hegemonic position in the global financial system.

President Putin of Russia announced the new brics world reserve currency and they are currently preparing for its release.
